McGill Team Victorious In International Debate

Collard And Marshall Speak For Negative — One British Debater Judged Superior in Delivery — Decide That Man Does Not Live in Adversity — Hector McNeil And Ivor Jones Visitors — Held in Convocation Hall of R.V.C. — Col. Bovey Expresses Appreciation of Work.

DESPITE the fact that one of the British debaters was acclaimed superior in the matter of delivery and of marshalling of arguments, the judges decided unanimously that as a team the McGill men were the victors in last night's debate in the Convocation Hall of the Royal Victoria College.

The negative and winning side of the resolution, "Resolved that Man Merely Exists in Prosperity but Lives in Adversity" was upheld by Edmond Collard and Arthur J. Marshall of McGill, and the affirmative was taken by Ivor Jones of University College, Wales, and Hector McNeil of the University of Glasgow. Colonel Bovey occupied the chair and the judges were Wesley Frosst, American Consul, Jean St. Germain of the University of Montreal and Rev. Dr. Scott Pearson, former president of the St. Andrew's University Debating Society, Glasgow, Scotland.

J. A. Marshall Visitor Opens

Hector McNeil prefaced his remarks with a rendering of thanks to all those who had helped to make his stay here, as he called it, an excursion. He then proceeded to treat the subject, not from the philosophic point of view, but taking into consideration the fact that the subject was so general that it could not be divided into definite arguments pro and con.

He claimed that whereas religion and ethics strongly upheld the affirmative of the resolution, as practically all the great figures of Biblical History lived most fully and accomplished most in adversity, he did not wish to point to this as an argument in his debate. He preferred to argue differently, and went on to explain his belief that behavior must be a contrast between ideas and actuality, and activity as a means of satisfying desire. Adversity, he claimed, is the desire; and prosperity the satisfaction, and once prosperity is obtained there is no more motivation and no more activity.

Prosperity Is Submission
The flower of emotion and the height of mental activity are dependent on, and are the results of, adversity. To support this he referred to Shakespeare's Lear, who, only as a result of suffering, could feel the emotions of pity and the desire to aid the unfortunate.

Ivor Jones, the other speaker for the affirmative, argued that life, being the spiritual and mental reactions to environment, is only full and complete when man rises superior to his environment, and only in adversity can man do this. Prosperity, he contended, is the state where man submits to his environment, as there is nothing to conquer, and therefore he merely exists. It is not the journey's end, but the journey itself, which is the most desirable, and similarly it is not the state of prosperity, but the labour and hardships attached to the acquisition of that state which offers the fullest part of man's life. "Success is hell" is the Britisher's philosophy.

McGill Upholds Negative
The speakers for the negative treated the subject from a more material point of view, claiming that adversity exists when the means of going ahead and of living are denied, and that only in prosperity is it possible to accomplish the greater things of life. Giving examples of men who accomplished great things, Arthur Marshall argued that only with the means of living and the wealth of prosperity could they have succeeded in their endeavors. Adversity, he claimed closes men's mouths and prevents the activity of their minds.

Collard claimed that anyone believing in adversity is a pessimist.

First Informal Of Season Friday Night In Union Ballroom

Eddie Alexandor And Orchestra To Supply Dance Music

SUPPER INNOVATION

Tickets Obtainable at Tuck Shop Today And Tomorrow

Considerable enthusiasm is abroad at the prospect of the season's first Informal Dance to take place tomorrow evening in the Union Ballroom. The affair is scheduled to begin at 9.30 and the doors will be open only to those possessing tickets, thus rendering futile the efforts of "gate-crashers."

These tickets may be obtained at the Tuck Shop or from the class presidents of the first years, today and tomorrow for the nominal price of $1.00 a couple or the same price for a stag.

Students who enjoyed the syncretizing strains furnished by Eddie Alexandor and his boys at the Jazz Tea last Thursday will be pleased to learn that this same popular orchestra will provide the music at the Informal.

To Eat in Ballroom
An innovation at Friday's dance will be the cabaret atmosphere created by the placement of the supper tables around the walls of the Ballroom, contrary to the usual practice of flooding the Cafeteria with refreshment seekers. The Cafeteria staff will attend to orders and in this way much time is expected to be saved. The number of tickets on sale is limited to the seating accommodation of these tables.

Shortly after the dancing commences the Ballroom doors will be closed and locked, an idea which should prevent the curious from congesting the dance-floor. The Executive are confident as to the success of the function and all attending are assured of an excellent time.

Med. Students To Hear Dr. Nicholls

Will Speak On The Varying Concepts Of Disease

Outlining "The Varying Concepts of Disease" Dr. A. G. Nicholls, noted medical man and pathologist, will speak to the members of the McGill Medical Society at their next meeting which is to be held on Monday evening, October 31.

Dr. Nicholls is the editor of the Canadian Medical Journal. His powers of eloquence, combined with the substance of the address he is to give, should attract much attention and enthusiasm on the part of the Medical Students.

The subject which Dr. Nicholls has chosen holds much of interest for the Med. Students. Besides being interesting, this subject is also along educational lines.

The first meeting of the Society was attended by more than two hundred Students and a similar group is expected at the coming meeting. The regular business of the Society will be carried out, as usual, after Dr. Nicholls' address. There will be a case report, and refreshments will be served. It is hoped that there will be a maximum turnout for this interesting meeting.

Orchestra Practises Encourage Director

The Ballroom of the Union was the meeting place of the McGill Concert Orchestra for the third time this season. A rehearsal featuring some lively music was held and with the enthusiasm shown by the large turnout, practice on Gilbert and Sullivan's "Yeoman of the Guard" took up a large part of the evening.

Mr. Cooper, in addressing the band, advocated the practicing of individual parts at home so as to attain the necessary perfection. If practices and performances are any indication of ability, this orchestra has every chance to become a good one and should give an excellent account of themselves when called upon to do so. They play a fine brand of music and are improving with every rehearsal.

Election Results

As a result of a meeting of first year law, the following were elected class officers for the session: President, Donald Black; Vice-President, Lorne Gates; Secretary-Treasurer, Ken MacNamee.

Last Chances For Refunds Offered By Book Exchange

REPORTS from the McGill Book Exchange show that approximately $1,000 has been paid out to students to date. Although a large number of undergraduates have been paid, an appreciable percentage have as yet failed to show up. Some fortunate McGill students seem to have been overlooked by the financial depression.

The Exchange will close on Friday afternoon at five fifteen. The executive expresses the wish that all those having outstanding accounts will please report before the time stated in order that the books may be balanced.

For the benefit of the Engineering students the Exchange will remain open fifteen minutes later today and tomorrow, that is, from two o'clock until five fifteen.

S. C. A. Executive Holds Conference

Distinguished Speaker To Address S.C.A. On Sunday

COMMITTEES REPORT

Discussions of Modern Student Topics At Luncheons

That a distinguished speaker will address the Student Executive Christian Association on Sunday next was announced at an executive meeting of the Association held at Strathcona Hall last evening at 7 o'clock. G. L. Reynolds, the president, was in the chair. Eleven members were present.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved. The reports of the various committees followed. The worship committee reported that there would be no Vesper Service on Thursday evening due to the presence in the city of the Oxford Group. It was also announced that the Association had obtained the services of one of the members of the Group, for a lecture in the near future. The Vesper Service will be resumed one week from today.

DISCUS INFORMAL
The last Informal was discussed. The executive wish it known that the Sunday night Informals are all that the name implies. The keynote is informality and a spirit of good fellowship and they do not claim to put on a high pressure program as some who attended seemed to expect. It (Continued on Page Two)

Hung Tao Meets

Social Gathering to Feature Chinese Dinner

All McGill students and the general public of Montreal who are interested in Chinese study and culture will have an opportunity to "obey that impulse," thanks to the Hung Tao Society of Montreal. A social meeting of this society takes place tonight when a Chinese dinner will be the order of the evening. The gathering will be at a Chinese restaurant at 180 La Gauchetière St. W. at 7 o'clock. Tickets, which cost $1.00 each, may be obtained from Miss Steele, the Secretary. These dinners are held twice a year, the atmosphere and food being typically Chinese.

The Montreal branch of the Hung Tao Society was formed two years ago for the purpose of extending the knowledge of Chinese subjects in this city. The regular meetings are held once a month generally on the first Thursday of the month. Membership is open to anyone interested, whether or not attending McGill.

Simpson's Band To Provide Music At Newman Informal

THE first of a series of informal dances to be held by the Newman Club of McGill will take place at Congress Hall, at the corner of Dorchester and St. Alexander streets, tonight at 8.45.

Due to the much discussed depression, special rates, a special rate of 50 cents for gentlemen and 25 cents for ladies will be in force. Excellent refreshments will be provided at no extra charge.

Howard Simpson's Privateers, who performed at the Freshman Prom, will supply the music for this event.

Tickets are on sale at Congress Hall, and an enjoyable evening is promised to all interested.

Arts Undergraduate Society Will Convene Tonight In Ballroom

Sir Arthur Currie And Dean MacKay Will Attend Opening Gathering

SWEATERS IN VOGUE

Program Includes Refreshments, Band, And Entertainments, With Skits

The Arts Undergraduate Smoker tonight at 8:00 in the Union Ballroom, has several treats in store for its patronizers. In the first place every thing is free; admission, smokes and refreshments. Sir Arthur Currie and Dean Mackay will be there plus all the athletic coaches from the University. The function is open to B. Sc. students among others.

The program will include a skit put on by Max Ford and Jim Harvey, a general singing of Arts' songs led and composed by Max Ford, solo singing and some professional entertainment. The costume required strikes a new note in the history of Undergraduate Smokers; all participants will wear sweaters. Others will be discouraged.

A well known local band will supply music as a prelude to the evening's entertainment, to be followed by the afore-mentioned skits and songs and smokes. The commissariat promise coffee, coca cola, hot dogs and perhaps beer by way of refreshments.

The skit to be featured will represent the abolition of student apathy as a result of the endeavors of the executive of the Arts Undergraduate Society, in the person of President Ross Wilson, and his subordinates, to be represented by other members of the society.

Preparation for other activities of the Arts Undergraduates, including a faculty banquet, will be discussed at the meeting.

Noted Speaker Will Give Address Today

Dr. Lloyd Douglas on Experiments in Writing

This afternoon at 4 o'clock, Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas will address McGill students, as guest speaker, at the first meeting this year, of the English Literature Society, his subject being "Experiments in Writing."

Dr. Douglas, minister of St. James United Church of Montreal is well-known as an essayist. "The Magnificent Obsession," one of his best known works, is now undergoing its seventeenth impression in the United States; its fourth in Canada, and has been printed a number of times in England. A native of the mid-western States, has just completed his latest work "forgive Us Our Trespasses." The latter is due to appear shortly in Canada and the United States and will be printed also in England and Sweden.

The meeting will take place in the Grill Room of the Union, and all those interested are asked to attend. Admission is free.

Define Metaphysics

Dr. Hendel Leads Discussion At Philosophical Club

The second meeting of the Philosophical Society is scheduled to take place tonight at 8 o'clock in the S.C.A. Common Room at Strathcona Hall.

Encouraged by the success of their former meeting this season, the executive are confident that the discussion tonight will be equally stimulating and instructive. They have persuaded Dr. Hendel, Chairman of the Philosophical Department, to introduce the subject "What is Metaphysics?"

The question is whether there is any such thing as Metaphysics. It may be that when thinkers leave the realm of science and deal with very abstract questions they are only fooling themselves with words and with notions they cannot verify. So it may be that Metaphysics has no standing at all in knowledge. The question first to be decided is "What Does Metaphysics Pretend to Be?" Or "What is Metaphysics?"

The executive wish it to be understood that all University students, regardless of whether they are taking courses in Philosophy or not, are cordially invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

Temple Emmanuel Presents Musicales At Initial Meeting

Conservatorium Artists Play in Lecture Hall Last Night

TAKING the form of a musicale, the first meeting of the "Temple Centre" of the Temple Emmanuel was held last night in the Temple's lecture hall. The "Temple Centre" is a young people's organization, formed with the object of providing both a cultural and social atmosphere for all young people who are so inclined. This group meets once a month, and the program is always an interesting and varied one.

Last night's meeting was presented by a group of youthful but already well-known artists. The president of the society, Mr. Lawrence Marks, acted as chairman. In his opening remarks, he expressed the hope that if the audience gained nothing else but an appreciation of good music, the evening would not have been in vain.

The program was opened by Daniel Breitman, eleven-year old pianist, and pupil of Olga Guillard-off. Master Breitman played an impromptu by Chopin, which was followed by a delightful encore. The next artist was Alexander Broth, a violinist and protege of the McGill Conservatorium of Music. Mr. Broth is the youngest member of the Montreal Orchestra, and also holds the position of concert master of the Conservatorium Orchestra. He is the winner of the Sir William Peterson Scholarship for the fourth time. Mr. Broth started with a Gavotte by Bach.

This was followed by a plaintive Hebrew melody, called "Nigun," by the great American-Jewish composer, Bloch. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Mina Weinstein, whose able assistance and excellent technique helped to render a most difficult piece in a very admirable way. "Variations," by Corelli-Kreisler followed, and was played in a lively, animated fashion.

The last artist on the program was Miss Mina Weinstein, pianist, pupil, and medallist of the McGill Conservatorium. Miss Weinstein played the Sonata in C major, by Beethoven, and the C minor etude by Chopin. Both were received with much enthusiasm by the audience.

The chairman expressed the appreciation of the audience, and thanked the artists for their excellent performance. Rabbi Stern also thanked the performers, and congratulated them on their fine attempt to interpret the spirit of music. The meeting was followed by an informal dance, and refreshments were served.

Charities Campaign Organized At Lunch Meeting Yesterday

Contributions Are Assessed At One Dollar Per Student

HUTCHINS PRESIDES

Students Asked to Contribute $2,000 Dollars — Starts Monday

One dollar from each student at the university was set as the objective for the Federated Charities campaign, at an organization luncheon held in the Union yesterday noon. John Hutchins, Law 35, chairman of the student committee for the campaign which starts next Monday, presided at the meeting at which representatives of the various faculties and classes were present. Several faculty representatives were absent from yesterday's luncheon. These, particularly the Library School and Dentistry Faculty heads, are asked to get in touch with John Hutchins immediately.

$2,000 From Students
McGill's share in the annual campaign which opens next Monday is $19,500, of which the student body is asked to contribute $2,000 and the staff $17,500. Professor J. C. Simpson, of the Medical faculty, is in charge of the collections from the staff of the university.

Last year the students contributed in all $1,350, the various faculties contributing as follows:

Law 1	$73.25
Medicine 1	55.50
2	78.25
3	23.50
4	33.45
5	52.00
Graduate School	96.00
Theology	70.65
Arts 1	63.90
2	44.00
3	74.25
4	39.30
Commerce 1	26.85
2	38.25
3	19.50
4	33.50
Science 1	34.75
2	17.25
3	49.75
4	18.50
Library School	14.65
Architecture	45.50
Dentistry	8.00
Engineering	36.75
M. S. P. E.	30.00
Royal Victoria College 1	37.45
2	53.05
3	75.56
4	77.70
Total	$1314.46

Collections from the various classes are to be handed in to G. H. Fletcher, Secretary-Treasurer of the Students' Society in the Union. Several representatives for the classes and faculties were appointed at yesterday's meeting and their names will appear shortly in the Daily.

Graduate Meeting

At a meeting of the Graduate Students' Association held in the Chemistry Building, yesterday officers were elected for the coming year. The results of the elections are as follows: Honorary President, Dean Evans; President, Massey; Vice-President, Snell; Honorary Secretary, Miss Patnam; Honorary Treasurer, Denstedt.

Two committees were selected to arrange the athletic and social activities. Miss Hearn, Forbes and Crabtree were elected to the athletic committee, and the social committee is composed of Miss Koerber, Hampton and Haslam.

The social committee is already planning a tea and musical programme to be held shortly.

Women's Student Body Celebrates Anniversary

Yesterday was an anniversary of great importance in the lives of McGill Co-eds, and yet few of them appeared to realize its overwhelming significance. There were no fervid celebrations or other demonstrations witnessed. Co-eds sauntered carelessly about, seeping in and out of the aged portals, seemingly unaware that their presence there was sanctioned by a decision framed exactly fifty years ago from that day.

The admission of women to this institution of learning in its higher form was conceded in 1882. It was the result of the prolonged campaign of certain chivalrous Montrealeers, headed by Sir William Dawson, then Principal of the University. When first permitted to attend McGill the eager young Co-eds were kept rigorously secluded from male students, separate lectures being arranged for them. The first class of 14 regular and 13 partial students seems chiefly famed for the copious ink with which they smeared themselves in their frantic pursuit of learning.

Since these crude beginnings the number of Women students has extensively increased. There are now 583 Co-eds out of a total number of 2344 students. Two women may sit on the Students' Council and a woman is privileged to be elected President of the Council. The modern Co-ed states that she can manipulate ink as skillfully as can her male fellow students.

Weird Dancing Devils Represented In Wood

Japanese devils, defiant of all good, drunk, and dancing madly before a Buddhist temple, are represented in a group of figurines brought back from the Orient by I. D. Willis, former student of McGill University who dropped in this morning to confer with Dr. Kiang Kang-Hu, professor of Chinese studies, regarding the statues.

The carved wooden figures recall an old Japanese legend of demons closely resembling in their actions the Greek god Pan, according to Mr. Willis. The devil, with long curling tusks, horned, and possessing only three fingers and a thumb on each hand, is accompanied by two satelites, one beating time on the gourd as his drunken master dances, and the other playing on an instrument resembling a Hawaiian guitar. The three are defiant of the Buddhist monks and one of them has stolen an acolyte's fan while the other has torn up the hitching post in front of the temple. According to Professor Kiang these represent the very incarnation of evil in Japanese mythology.

Other strange tales of Oriental superstition are told by Mr. Willis who spent six years in the east. Fear of demons in China, he stated, goes so far that to keep the devils out of the house the roof is built in a curvy fashion — for demons can only travel in straight lines. The devil, on alighting on the roof, immediately slides down and is catapulted again into space.

Freshmen And The Prom

IF WE ARE to form an opinion from the scanty evidence offered by a few letters discovered in our mail-bag, the conclusion would be that the Freshmen Prom was a success only from the freshettes' and upperclassmen's point of view. Certain it is that the admission fee of fifty cents charged to the latter did not insure that the affair would be primarily for first year students.

Of course, the interest evinced by upperclassmen, and the protests made by freshmen are highly flattering to the women students. Stag lines are seldom to be had nowadays, except when dad pays heavily. But however gratifying it may be to woman's vanity, the procedure was hardly fair to the freshmen, who, after all, provided the excuse for the orchestra and refreshments.

Blame can hardly be put upon the Union House Committee for this. They evidently did not foresee that the prospect of music, dancing, and new girlish faces would appeal more strongly to many upperclassmen than the satisfaction of not spending a dollar. Now several freshmen will have to resort to less synthetic, and more pristine methods.

PLAY ACTING

ALTHOUGH the title may seem to indicate the contrary, this does not refer to the stage or anything to do with it, though its interpretation may be confined to that larger unity, the stage of life.

Throughout this world runs a continual cry. It comes from the pulpit and the professional chair, from the soap box and current literature, and it says, "Be natural." A commendable notion indeed, but what does it mean? To whom does it appeal? Why does the need for such a cry arise?

To begin with, it must be assumed that there are people in this world who live on a plane to which they have adapted themselves in complete discord with their social position or inherent capabilities. False appearance and false opinions may be included among their general characteristics. Consequently some persons are said to live a lie.

Among them are they who attempt to bluff those about them into thinking how important they are, and how necessary they are to those with whom they come in contact. They make misstatements about their knowledge, their education, or their social position, which, though at the time may be convenient to personal vanity, are generally found out.

We have with us the "snobs" and the people who put on "airs". We have the enlightened persons who purchase hotel and travel stickers to paste on their luggage, such as it is, and then proudly display it to their gullible, or perhaps not so gullible, acquaintances.

To outline all the minor deceptions which are practiced by mankind on each other would be interesting, but has the disadvantage of being more than a life's work. It is sufficient to admit their existence.

It must then be decided whether the claim "Be Natural" is fully justified. Whereas the fake is obviously detrimental and should be treated according to his deserts, the bluffer is in no ignominious position.

Is not bluff anything but natural to mankind? If the answer was in the affirmative this would be a sorry world. It is the lot of man to make use of his imagination. How he uses it may vary for times and persons, but it is his heritage, and is intended to detract from the humdrum of life. Everyone has to use the small amount of "face" or "gall" allotted to him to make his way in the world.

If natural means the following of a placid and untroubled existence, bounded by rules of convention, and barred from anything unorthodox, then we should be unnatural. But if we may include with our conventional life a little gall, a little bluff, and a little play-acting, and call that natural, the true root of our common nature would be more accurately touched. Most of us are touched by the latter definition and if the rest of man took heed of it we would all be a better world.

THE BOOKSHELF

Deeping Attempts Sociological Novel

SMITH, by Warwick Deeping, McClelland & Stewart Ltd., 378 pages, price $2.00.

There is no doubt that every novelist aims at some purpose when he is writing his novels. Whatever this purpose may be, he tries through the medium of the printed word to tell his readers about it. Before Warwick Deeping achieved the distinction of writing a best-seller, he had little purposiveness in his writings, but with the advent of Sorrel & Son, one sees a definite intention in his work. To quote him, he tries to portray everyday life, as he sees it.

Bearing the above in mind, we see that in this novel the author tries to solve another of the modern sociological problems that refuse to be solved. Keir Smith, we are told, brings "a message of hope for an unhappy world," which has little of the nature of a hopeful message, for Smith becomes involved, despite the author, in further insoluble sociological problems.

Smith, who toils in a carpenter's shop in a town in rural England is different from the other men who work beside him. He is young, and for all his youth, he does not long for the whistle to blow so that he could be off to a "pub." One must deviate here to state that the writer does not like the institution called the "pub." Smith takes a genuine pride in his work, in a well-morticed joint or in a fine piece of wood-carving. Then he meets Sybil and they are married. Shortly after their baby comes, illness takes away Keir's job and their unpaid home becomes a liability.

It is at this point that the author arrives at his problem: What is to happen to the man who has an incurable and infectious disease, but must work to support his family. He is ostracized by his fellow-workers, for they are afraid to contract the disease, nor do employers make it a practice to engage such individuals.

The author solves his problem by sending Smith to Papworth in Cambridgeshire. The inhabitants of this town have gone through the same experiences as Smith has. Here modern hospitals look after him, and he is at par with the workmen in the up-to-date shops. The writer is overflowing with praise for the community, but on closer inspection, one finds that too idealistic and not at all practical.

Little can be said of Smith as a character. He is weak, narrow and at times borders on the prudish. He decides to commit suicide, but sentimental motives deter him. Says Deeping of him, in describing his (literary) excursions: "Keir reads a number of contemporary novels, and the impression he got from them was one of excessive dreariness. He gathered that marriage was the most indecent and disgusting of all relationships, that all husbands had fat hands and slimy voices and sinned in secret. Young Intelligentia had gone back to nakedness and nature As for the making of money it was a base function relegated to dull and foolish and obtusate persons called fathers. You despised them, and your scorn allowed you to sponge on the old gentlemen. You analysed the universe and your small self with a kind of cold, facetious glee"

It will be seen from this synopsis that whereas Deeping's intention was to present to the reader a slice of life of reality the resulting novel is a compound of acute but only superficial observation and a sentimental misconception of the aims and needs of the working classes.

Buchman's Remedy For Present Ills

FOR SINNERS ONLY, by A. J. Russell, London. Hodder and Stoughton, 340 pp. Price: $1.25.

At the present moment the Oxford Group is taking the hearts of a good many Montrealeers by storm, and by the sheer personality and sincerity—call it inspiration if you will—of its crusaders is doing much to stimulate a more Christian spirit in the practice of Christianity. Hence it is with heightened interest that one turns to the pursuit of "For Sinners Only," the frank account, by an English newspaper man, of this infant-albeit lusty—movement. "This is a book about sinners, for sinners, by quite a big sinner" says Mr. Russell at the outset. And in this vivid, simple manner he continues the story of these energetic "Troubadors of God."

The author, as he himself admits, is a journalist with a nose primed for news. His style smacks strongly of an Americanized Fleet Street. As a result the reader is always being prepared for the sensational, for NEWS in screaming letters—something that never materializes in the course of the book. Nevertheless, the colloquial and lively narration makes fascinating reading, marked as it is by a critical questioning attitude.

You may not agree with all that Mr. Russell claims—that he has come to grips with sin and solved its riddle. But he approaches sin from an earnest, human point of view, shows how many big sinners have come to hate it, and won their way to an enthusiastic and unselfish delight in living. The author has shattered a convention which has held sway for a long time in spite of Biblical example; namely, that religious literature must always be accompanied by a loud and cavernous yawn.

The Medical Journal

The McGill Medical Undergraduate Journal, vol. 2, No. 1, October 1932. 64 pp. 30 cents. Emerging definitely out of the experimental stage the Undergraduate Medical Journal presents a very successful first number of its second year. Most of the articles are of a high calibre and show that the information conveyed has been thoroughly assimilated.

G. W. Halpenny reviews in lucid manner the metabolism of di-hydroxy acetone with the emphasis on its use in diabetes mellitus, and the theories propounded in recent work on the subject. Russell Andrews' article on Hunter's Studies on Bone Growth is informative, well written and clearly formulated. "Opium" by A. G. Corcoran traces the history of this important drug in medical practice, concisely and with clarity.

"Kidney Function Tests" form the subject of an article by Reginald Wilson. The importance of correct diagnosis of the presence and degree of malfunction of the kidney is evident. These tests therefore assume great value in clinical medicine. Wilson reviews the subject very satisfactorily. "The Arterial Supply of the Mammalian Kidney" by M. C. Mooney; "Coated Tongue" by John R. Hogle, and a case report complete the issue.

The editorial board has evidently abandoned the idea of symposium issues, which is a step in the right direction. Variety is more important in a magazine of this type than a full discussion of one particular subject.

A Digest of Items and Opinions in Other College Papers

When six human skeletons had to be moved in the University of Minnesota all the janitors refused the job. As a result straws had to be used to decide as to who should carry them.

Nobody can dispute Michigan University's claim to the fact that they receive the largest number of orders for football tickets. Some time ago they received an order from their alumni in Chicago for 20,000 seats for the Northwestern-Michigan game.

All Indiana University co-eds who wish to attend football games must obtain permission from their dean. They are requested to state how and with whom they are going. Official chaperones are provided.

According to the Purdue Exponent flourishing business is being done by the "dating bureau", a newly established institution of the Arkansas Polytechnic. Four names are given by the boy or girl who desires an engagement with someone. The charges are 25 cents for the first choice; the second is 20 cents, the third costs the "dater" only 15 cents, and the fourth has the rock-bottom price of 10 cents.

"For Heaven's sake," advises Professor Harry C. Steinmetz of the department of psychology of San Diego State College, "make yourself attractive to the opposite sex, do a little flirting and get a date," according to the Columbia Spectator.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—

I think it would be a nice gesture on the part of the Union House Committee if they held an informal dance, at which freshmen COULD meet the freshettes. The upperclassmen seem to think they are worth being acquainted with. "And what is sauce for the seniors is fodder for the freshman."

SAM FRESHMAN, Arts I.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—

I think it would be quite in order to suggest that a "fresh prom" be held in the McGill Union, at which we aspiring freshmen might have an opportunity of meeting some of our charming classmates, the Freshettes.

If a strictly informal affair was held and a reasonable admission fee charged, it would certainly be a huge success, especially if modelled after the dance which was held for the upperclassmen at the Union on Tuesday last.

Respectfully yours, JOE COLLEGE.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—

Allow me to take this opportunity of voicing my sentiments on paper concerning the Freshman(?) Prom.

In the first place, upperclassmen should not have been allowed to attend. What chance has a poor freshman against the nefarious social tactics of an upperclassman; such as the low practice of cutting in on dances? What chance has a green and awkward freshman against the sophisticated elegance and grace of a well-dressed mass of protoplasm called an upperclassman?

Woe and misfortune comprised the sole lot of a freshman who was passing a few rapturous and blissful moments with a sweet young thing in his arms. No sooner was his enviable state noticed by an upperclassman, than poor freshie was abruptly brought back to the stark realities of ordinary life by a gentle and commanding tap on the shoulder.

Ah, woe is me that I must relinquish this fair treasure to satisfy the voracious whims of an upperclassman!

Although vituperative comments are quite in order, I fear to employ them lest I hurt the tender feelings of McGill upperclassmen who attended the Prom.

A Freshman who was cut into thin strips by upperclassmen.

Dear Sir:—

You may not be a kangaroo, but you sure are full of hops.

Yours truly, EMBRYO REPORTER.

Oct. 24, 1932.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—

This letter is written to voice an inquiry relating to the Physical Health Dept.

This year a new fee of five dollars was levied from each member of the student body, and listed on the receipt as a "health fee." Each student probably pays this cheerfully enough, realizing that, after all, it helped to defray the expenses of a costly health service. Too, he realized that whereas, in former years, students had received their treatments free of charge, at considerable expense to the University; now the whole student body would pay the cost of treating the 25 or 30 per cent who have illnesses. All students were therefore led to expect a certain amount of treatment for the thousands of dollars acquired by the University through the above fee. But here's the rub.

Let a student complain to Dr. Harvey of physical pain, and he is immediately advised to visit the R.V.H. clinic for treatment, with the additional advice to take along a dollar for registration. Each trip to the hospital costs a dollar more, for which the student is given a receipt, all these to be partially refunded by the University. A wait in Dr. Harvey's office of seventeen minutes for O.K. of receipts, then a trip to the Bursar's office where the waiting is prolonged from 20 minutes to half an hour. Finally the convalescent student emerges, bearing the cheque, tired of standing for over three-quarters of an hour, disgusted with the efficiency of the health service, and literally "burning up" from having to pay, not only his five-dollar, but also for his medical service.

Will some reader, a little more intimate with the finance details of the Health Dept. than I, offer an explanation of this pertinent question and tell us what happens to our five dollars?

ing that man can live a fuller life in adversity, should compare their own conditions in the prosperous period of 1929, and the present day. He invited them to visit any of the slums of the great cities and see if life in adversity seems full.

Prosperity gives to society security which is necessary to the development of all those things which make life more rich and full, security is essential to life and to the free use of the intellect.

Adversity may incite man to action. It may warp him or kill him. The few who are strong may overcome their state and environment, but the weak are so overburdened and usually break under their load.

Colonel Bovey spoke for a few minutes after the debate and expressed his pleasure at seeing so large an audience in attendance, and praised the work of the Federation of Canadian Students for their excellent work in sponsoring these international and intercollegiate debates.

The Rev. Dr. Scott Pearson rendered the decision of the judges, praised all the speakers for their endeavours, and criticized both teams on points of delivery, marshalling of arguments, and persuasive powers.

was decided too, that a nominal charge of five cents will be made in future to cover the cost.

Sixty-two subscriptions for the Canadian Student, the official organ of the Association, have been paid up to date.

The chairman of the means committee, M. Ransome, reported that it had been decided to hold a series of four informal luncheons during the month of November. These luncheons will be held in the Grill Room of the McGill Union commencing on Tuesday, November 8th, at one o'clock. Modern student questions will be discussed at these meetings and it is expected that many prominent men will address the gatherings. The first subject to be dealt with will be, "Does Science Abolish God." The speaker will be announced at an early date. These luncheons are open to all students of the University.

Mystery Enshrouds Murder Of Feline

Sydney, Australia. — Stark tragedy stalked recently in the office of the Students Christian Movement at Sydney University, throwing the staff of newspaper sleuths here into a furor. Foul play of the most dastardly type is suspected as the cause of the death in a corner of a cat.

Honi Solt, published weekly by the Sydney University Students Council, has spared no efforts to sheet home his villainy to the perpetrator of this horrible outrage. As soon as news of the finding of the corpse in an advance state reached the office, members of the staff resolved that they would leave no stone unturned to fulfill the ends of justice. It is feared that the unhuman monster has since fled the country.

The immediate past president of the Student Christian Movement (Mr. W. A. W. Wood), it was found, was an ardent cat-lover. Clever investigations by the Carnot Cycle Squad ascertained that he, in company with another Union Director, had been seen purloining Union biscuits to feed decrepit-looking cats. Was his affection reciprocated? If so, the cat may have died of a broken heart. This is unlikely. If the affection was not mutual, jealousy may have been the motive.

The place where the body was found is suggestive. Medical opinion has placed the date of death as August 19. The suspect left the country on the 20th.

Meanwhile our able squad of detectives is exploring further channels.

Mystery Woman

An air of mystery has covered the investigations. The police feel sure that a woman called Mary is implicated. She has been seen haunting the precincts of the office. Admirable B., whose address is given as the Union, is also suspected on the ground of a grim mention of "poison," and this is supported by the fact that he would have an interest in the defence of Union biscuits.

The finding of the body lends further support to the contention that members of the Student Christian Movement lead a cat and dog life. Now, alas, the cat is gone; and the curtains of the office are drawn so that no light enters.

Public Enquiry Demanded

Honi Solt demands a public enquiry into the circumstances of this horrible crime. The police are inactive. Honi Solt's own staff have done all that has been done. We cannot have cats dying mysteriously all over the University. The place is enough like a morgue already, considering the number of dead marines taken from the S.R.C. office on various occasions. The position must be cleared up once and for all. Honi Solt will take the lead in prosecuting the matter to its final conclusion.

Theolog Debate

"Resolved, That the Capitalist System has failed from a Christian point of view," is the subject of the debate to be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the Students' Lounge of the New Divinity Hall, under the auspices of the United Theological College. Several of the faculty have promised to attend, and a large turnout of the students and their friends is expected. Principal Smythe and Dr. Ritchie have consented to act as judges.

Messrs. Parsons, Foggo and Douglas will uphold the affirmative side of the resolution, while Messrs. Kelloway, Howell and Barry will be the speakers for the negative side. All students are welcome to be present at the debate, and to take part in the discussion which will follow.

PROCRASTINATION

WE ONCE KNEW a College Man who took three weeks to write a two-page letter!

Not that he was cursed with inflammatory rheumatism or anything like that, no sir. He could do the hundred in very nearly ten flat; and play as neat a game at outside wing as you'd want to see.

But when it came to answering letters from home, it took him a long time to make up his mind and a longer time to get the words on paper.

Gentlemen, we are agin this College Man's habit of stalling on the folks at home. They deserve more consideration. Don't say to yourself that you haven't the time. It only takes a minute to get to the nearest telephone!

TALK, don't balk. A pleasant chat with the home folks takes a lot less time than a letter.

Just for fun . . . telephone Home tonight.

Intermediate Track Meet At Stadium

Cadets And Red Seconds Hold Annual Competition Tomorrow at Two

CINDER enthusiasts will stage one more show before the curtain is rung down on track and field activities for the present season. Interest is focussed on the Intermediate meet to be held tomorrow at two o'clock at the Molson Stadium. The Redmen will match strides and brawn with the R.M.C. Cadets in the fourth annual renewal of the event.

Ottawa Not Entered Intermediate track activities in Ontario and Quebec are divided into two sections, East and West. Meets are held simultaneously by the divisions and records made in either division are recognized. McGill competes in the Eastern division along with R. M. C.; while the Western division has four contestants — Western, O. A. C., McMaster and Toronto Seconds. This year it was hoped that Ottawa would also compete in the Eastern section but word has been received that they will be unable to enter a team.

Strong Team Entered The McGill team is composed largely of new men to Canadian Intercollegiate competition, with only five men having competed before. However there are several men on the team who have come to McGill with considerable experience in collegiate and high school meets. Men have been entered in every event but the pole vault; in this event the Cadets seem to be sure of eight points.

McGill has taken the meet three times in the four years and are expected to retain the title won last year. Reports from McMaster state that they have one of the strongest teams ever to compete in intermediate circles. Many noted Hamilton athletes have registered at the Baptist university and several records should be set up.

The events and entries follow: R. M. C.

Field Events:—Discus—R. C. Oaks, D. V. Rainnie, J. D. Christian; pole vault — R. E. Wilkins, P. A. Philip, P. F. Birks; high hurdles — D. V. Rainnie, C. S. C. Wisdom, J. D. Christian; high jump — D. V. Rainnie, F. C. McKergow, C. N. Kirks; shot put — D. V. Rainnie, McKergow, Oaks; broad jump — J. E. Harrington, McKergow, C. A. Rutherford; javelin — McKergow, Oaks, Harrington; low hurdles — Wisdom, Armstrong, Rutherford.

Running Events:—880 yards run — A. K. Wickson, J. A. Hornbrook, D. M.

M. W. S. A. A.

The semi-annual meeting of McGill Women Students' Athletic Association will be held in the Common Room of the Royal Victoria College tomorrow at three o'clock.

Various business will be considered. It is extremely important that all members be present.

COMMERCE RUGBY

Commerce rugby players are reminded of the game against Arts tomorrow at four o'clock on the Lower Campus. As we are leading the league it is hoped that everyone will be on hand. The following and any others that can play the game are asked to turn out: Conklin, Farmer, Turner, A. Lang, J. Laing, Percy Smythe, R. MacLean, E. MacLean, Cuisserat, McDuff, Findley, Joedick, Gorman, Eb-

Red Polo Squads Tackle M.A.A.A. At K. of C. Tank

Keen Games Expected as Red Teams Seek First Victory

TWO defeats in their first two league games, is not an auspicious start for any team, but McGill poloists are working hard for their first victory. Tonight, the Senior men face another tough proposition in the form of the M.A.A.A. squad, a close checking, hard-shooting combination of players, who have tied their last two fixtures. The Red Seconds likewise stack up against an M.A.A.A. team, this one being the Blues. The Blues were one of the teams which went down twice to the McGill Juniors last season, but this year a more even match is expected.

Before the commencement of yesterday's practice, elections were held by the poloists, at the K. of C. pool. Ken MacIure was elected captain of the junior squad. For senior captain, three candidates were presented leaving only two to vote. It was decided therefore to postpone the issue until next practice, when another vote will be held.

Student Coupons Good

Tonight's games commence earlier than usual, the juniors tilt being scheduled for 8.00 and the senior for 8.30. Players are therefore asked to be at the pool at 7.45. Student's coupons will be accepted from any student wishing to view two interesting and exciting matches.

The teams:

Seniors: Wayland, Shaw, Shragovich, Stein, Shapiro, French, McLean. Juniors: Tessier, Lyman, Smythe, Percy, Silverstone, Worrall, MacIure, Peacock.

Rugger Fifteen Play Varsity On Saturday

Practice Game Tonight Against Varsity at Nine

INJURIES TAKE TOLL

IN preparation for their game against Varsity in the Inter-Collegiate Championship on Saturday, the English Rugger team will hold a combined practice with the M.A.A.A. tonight in the Stadium. The practice will take the form of a game of four twelve minute quarters, during which all the possible combinations will be tried with the object of filling the places in the side that have been left vacant by ineligibility and injuries. The game is scheduled to begin at nine o'clock.

The captain of the team, Dudley Butterfield has a considerable amount of selection before him, as in addition to Macdonald being ineligible for the game, Gascoigne, who has been playing full-back, and Rice are both out of the side due to illness; which leaves three positions in the back division to be filled for Saturday.

However, those in charge anticipate no great difficulty in actually filling these places, as the chief problem confronting them is that of selecting the men who will best be able to take them. Tonight's practice is expected to solve that question, besides giving the members of the regular team an excellent opportunity of testing their mettle against another team, an important factor in their success on Saturday, which was attempted earlier in the season, but failed on account of the bad weather.

Taken altogether, in spite of their rather disappointing record this year, the McGill fifteen is expected to come up to the excellent standard of former years in their match at Toronto on Saturday; and in order that the best men available may represent the University there, all those interested, besides the people mentioned in the notice in today's Daily, are urged to turn out this evening at nine o'clock sharp.

bit, Fulcher, McGill, Dadson, Moran, Gregson.

ENGLISH RUGBY

There will be a game against M.A.A.A. at 9 p.m. today. The following are asked to turn out: Thompson, Wakefield, Davis, Anderson, Woolton, Wilson, Grimes-Graeme, Sheerwood, Ritchie, Rabnett, Hope, Dunsmuir, Close, Maycock, Williams, Foster, Butterfield, Cooligan, Erskine.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

Candidates for the City League Senior and Intercollegiate teams are asked to turn out at the Montreal High School Gym tomorrow at five o'clock. Bring your own equipment.

TRACK MEN

All members of the senior team are asked to hand in their uniforms as soon as possible.

INTERFACULTY FOOTBALL

There will be a game today on the Lower Campus at 3.30 p.m. sharp, between Law and Macdonald. Please note the change of time.

Queen's Grid Squad Determined To Give McGill Hard Battle

No Injuries to Hamper Chances of Tricolor Twelve

COACH BURT SURE

KINGSTON, ONT. Oct. 27.—(Special to the McGill Daily)—Chuck full of confidence, the Tricolor Senior team left for Montreal where they will meet the McGill Red team on Saturday. While they were held to a tie score in last Saturday's game at Kingston, Queens feel that they should have been returned victors on the days play. As they see it, the second period was the only one in which they were outplayed and although McGill scored heavily in the first quarter, the Tricolor feel that their touch was a wee bit fortunate.

However, the game meant a lot to Queens, because it showed them that they are just as good as any team in the Intercollegiate and that their slow start this season was due to lack of team play rather than lack of capable players. They have steadily improved with every contest and should be right on edge for the battle in Montreal.

The first meeting of the two teams was productive of some loose football and while this added to the uncertainty and zest of the game from the spectators viewpoint, the coaches were not at all pleased with some aspects of the tussle. While another weeks practice behind them, both teams should be better perfect in their plays.

Queens have put in a mighty busy and useful week on the turf in preparation for the struggle. A brush with R.M.C. has aided in perfecting timing on plays and has given the coach Milt Burt a chance to build up a defense against the forward passes that featured the previous game, at that Queens took care of most of McGill's passes and should do so again.

Fortunately the week and its practices have resulted in no more casualties and the team will likely have only Lackey and Glass on the fence when they line up.

While Varsity appear to be firmly entrenched upon the top of the heap, McGill still has a chance, but will have to down the Tricolor on Saturday to retain that chance. The tie game in Kingston was a blow to the Red teams' aspirations.

Queen's Determined To Win

On the other hand, Queens feel that they must take this game in order to convince the rugby world that they are as good as the best. And when two determined teams step out on the gridiron, somethings going to break.

Queens will likely line up with Storms, the former R.M.C. star looking after the flying wing position. Carter and Davoud are sure starters on the back field, with either Day or Davis to keep them company. Davoud another R.M.C. graduate is showing up better with every game. Bill Carr also an R.M.C. star will start at quarter while Milt Buell will look after the snap job. Byrne and Hoskings as insides, Hamlin and Kennedy as middles, Ralph and Gorman as outsides, will complete the starting line, with Dargavel, Kostulik, Purvis, Thoman, McNichol, Peever, Teskey and Conquergood in reserve.

Classicists Swamp Engineers At Rugby

Score Five Touchdowns To Win 30-1

DUFF GETS THREE

THE Arts Interfaculty rugby machine hit its stride yesterday when they defeated the lowly plumbbers by the overwhelming score of 31-0. The game was featured by long and spectacular runs by Alex Duff, Ross Wilson, the Arts triple threat man, Sam Brenhouse and "Chuck" Wayland of Water-polo fame.

Two inside kicks in the opening moments of the game resulted in two touchdowns, one of which Ross Wilson converted. This was followed by a beautiful placement for another three points. In the last half Rolle Henderson, Bert Denton and Alex Duff all snared forward passes to race for touchdowns to bring the final score up to 31 points for Arts.

The teams:

Arts (31): Wilson, Erskine, Dinning, Duff, Henderson, Eastman, Anglin, MacLennan, Brenhouse, Wayland, Dixon, Beddoes, Maxwell, Denton, Lyons.

Engineering (0): Rose, Nuller, Parent, Malouf, Loomius, Patterson, Juzenks, Newell, Mace, Paton, Christmas, Knupton.

time the stand will be open to the general public.

Student Coupons

Coupon No. 5 will admit students to the rooters' section in the game against Queen's on Saturday.

Injuries Continue To Haunt McGill Grid Team Camp

Freeman Will be Unable To Play For Two Weeks

INJURIES continue to haunt the Red football camp. But all this hard luck does not come on the football field alone. Yesterday Freeman, sub snap, slashed his hand as the result of an accident in the medical lab and will likely be out of the game for two weeks. Pierce also sprained his ankle in another off-the-field accident but will be available for Saturday's game.

At the same time there is some cause for joy with the news that Hammond will be available for duty if occasion rises. Dr. Tees announced that Hammond's knee was sufficiently healed to allow him to take a turn on the weakened backfield. The quarterback worries seem to be over with Gilbert and Krukowski both available for duty. Lee will also be dressed in case his educated toe is needed to do the drop kicking.

It is altogether likely that one or more of the Q.R.F.U. squad will be moved up to fill the gap left by the plethora of injuries. Just who will get the call is not certain but Howard and Robertson seem to be the men most capable of filling the gap. Scrimmage will likely be on the bill today with light drill tomorrow to taper off the squad for the all-important game Saturday.

Lawyers Prepared To Battle Macdonald

Meet Today in Mighty Football Struggle on Campus

NO HIDDEN PLAYS

THE Law Faculty will send its second string backfield into today's interfaculty game against Macdonald College on the Lower Campus, saving its regulars for the faculty dinner tonight. Coach "Shag" Calhoun will use instead the erstwhile Sub Judge, Sub Rosa, and Sub Marine. Stormy Gales, one of Law's famed "Four Oarsmen" will be in his regular spot at inside wing along with "Knute" Mitchell, "Gentleman Jim" Mullaly, Gib "McKelvey" Stewart, and the rest of the Law stalwarts.

The Lions are reported to be in fighting trim following their rigid training diet of raw greens as prescribed by their trainer, Wilcox, whose last minute statement before the battle was "We'll rake those Aggies fore and aft, what hoe?"

"Shag" Calhoun has something new in the line of strategy lined up to stop the Aggies. Only last night he was reported to be down at the Court House taking out warrants for all hidden ball plays. Johnny "Walker" Rowat is quoted as saying that he has a fine supply of linament lined up for halftime, just to put the Lions in trim for the heavier duties of the banquet later this evening.

The battle will start at 3.30 p.m. and will end when the Lions can no longer fight with bite and mane.

McGill Soccermen Play City All-Stars At Stadium Tonight

Injured Players Return to Lineup For Important Fixture

STRONG OPPONENTS

TONIGHT, at 7.30, McGill's soccer representatives will renew their annual feud with the All-Stars of the Junior Division P.Q.F.A. The match will be played under the floodlights, and will be followed by an English Rugby game between McGill and M.A.A.A.

President Gordon's team from the city clubs will present a formidable array of stars, chosen in the main from the league's two leading clubs—Worker's Sport and Verdun Rangers. Workers' Sport, by virtue of their preferred position, have the largest representation with Moore, Yaffe, Moran, Turley, and Hutchison in the lineup. Rangers come next with four men playing, Vickers with two, and Rosemount, N.D.G. and Emard with one man each on the All-Star list.

Expect Hard Battle

Though the All-Stars feel confident of taking the game, they know that they will have to fight all the way. The Redmen — although they have not completed a fourteen-game schedule, as their more fortunate opponents have—have engaged in a series of four or five exhibition games, both at home and away, and are in the pink of physical condition. The battling they withstood from the better-conditioned American teams, has toughened every member of the squad, and should be of value in tonight's match.

Last year, the All-Stars defeated the Redmen by the odd goal in three, on goals by Guy Turley and Lone. The latter is this year with the championship C.N.R. team of the Montreal League, but Turley will again lead the attack tonight against Ken Ross and his cohorts. Coach Finlay's men will be at full strength for the first time this year, Harkness, Cooper and McBroom having fully recovered from their injuries.

Varsity on Saturday

Tonight's game will be the last effort of preparation for the Redmen's bid to regain from Toronto the crown McGill have held for so many years. Varsity managed to win out last year, but the Red team will strain every nerve to snatch the coveted title from them, when the two squads meet on Saturday morning.

The lineup for tonight's game follows:

All-Stars: Watt (Verd. Rangers), Moore (Workers), MacIntosh (Vickers), Gale (Verd. Rang.), Yaffe (Workers), Shorrocks (N.D.G.), Barr (Vickers), Guy Turley (Workers), Strike (Emard), Hutchison (Workers), Moran (Workers), Rae (Rosemount), Moffatt (Verd. Rang.), Burton (Verd. Rang.).

McGill: Ross, Harkness, Janikun, Reece, McBroom, Flood, Owen, Minnion, Smart, Crabtree, Hemens, Nolan, Astwood, Doublet, Frank Cooper, R. Cooper, Innes, Carter Lynn. Referee: J. Irving—P.Q.F.A.

Just when we were beginning to feel a little more hopeful, a New Hampshire authority broke the bad news. We are suffering from occupational obsolescence complicated by technological surplusage.

The following students will be able to claim their money at the Book Exchange today, between 1.45 and five o'clock.

Principals in Heroic Sea Rescue

On the afternoon of Saturday, March 12, there was enacted off Halifax a true drama of the sea, replete with all the best traditions of "those who go down to these in ships." The salvage ship Reindeer, herself on the way to aid a vessel in distress, became a wreck and sent out an S.O.S., which was picked up by the Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm, bound from Liverpool to Halifax. Captain A. Rothwell, her commander, at once altered course and raced to the sinking Reindeer. When within two miles, volunteers were called for and a lifeboat, under command of Second Officer H. S. Knight, battled with wind and high seas for nearly four hours to reach the stricken ship. Captain Rothwell handled the Montcalm so as to make a lee for the rescuers and kept oil going in their track. Captain Featherstone and his crew of 27, to say nothing of a police dog, were safely taken off and the return trip to the Montcalm made in about 15 minutes, thanks to the wind. The shipwreck victims were given a rousing welcome and their rescuers cheered to the echo by the Montcalm's passengers, who witnessed the entire event. Later, a purse was taken up for the volunteers and a silver cigarette case presented to Second Officer Knight. A telegram was also sent to E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, commending the rescue work. The upper picture shows the crew of the Reindeer, with Captain Rothwell and Second Officer Knight, in uniform. Beside Captain Rothwell is Captain Featherstone. Lower picture shows the brave men who manned the Montcalm's lifeboat. In Seamen J. Carr; H. Addicott; L. Page; H. Pearce; the foreground are Second Officer Knight and Captain J. Lawry and W. Hughes; Boatswain W. Doyle and Rothwell. Left to right from top are: Able-Bodied J. Smythe, lamp-trimmer.

7. The Modern Stage.
8. Food for Thought.

The above is the program for the first general meeting of the Delta Sigma Society, women's literary and debating group, which is being held in the R.V.C. Common Room at four o'clock this afternoon. The executive has gone to a great deal of trouble to make the meeting interesting and hopes that many co-eds, particularly freshettes, will attend the gathering. Everything from the comparatively simple recitation of the alphabet by the Juniors, under the direction of Margaret Miller, to the not-so-simple satire of Stephen Leacock, as interpreted by members of the M.S.P.E., will be included in the program. All women members of the Student Undergraduate Body are accorded the privilege of being present at this revival of the McGilliad and it is expected that many will take advantage of the opportunity.

Med. Ball

The Medical Ball Committee recently decided that the annual Medical Ball is to be held on Dec. 9th. It has always taken place in the Spring marking the end of the Medicos' social functions. This year, however, the dance will be held in the Mount Royal Hotel in December, and a prominent Montreal orchestra will be engaged. An added attraction is that the tickets, which will go on sale in a few weeks, have been reduced to $5.00.

Student Duelling Upheld By Court

Berlin, Ger. — The right of university students to engage in "friendly" duelling has been upheld recently by a court here thus giving a further setback to those reformers who would banish this custom of German student life.

Although student duels have declined greatly since the war, they still hold a strong place in the life of certain student groups. Recently a student was released by a court although his opponent had died as a result of the battle.

Saber cuts still worn with pride and even a feeling of superiority by many who otherwise are modest and innocent appearing first or second year students.

Duelling corps are similar to American fraternities, except in their activities. Duels are held secretly. The duellists are protected by heavy vests, but their heads and faces are left unprotected.
